

Copyright Reflection

I always thought that the process of having a document submitted for copyrighting would be very difficult and filled with red tape. It was a wonderful surprise to find that the process was actually quite easy. I went to the U.S. Copyright Office's website <http://www.copyright.gov> and followed the instructions that were clearly stated.

The cost to register a document online was $35.00 and the time to complete the online form took 15 minutes total. After completing the online form I receive an e-mail confirmation that everything was submitted. In about a month I receive the official copyright certificate (link to copy of certificate is located on LO3 main page). Overall it was a very easy process and now I have an official document that has been copyrighted.
