Q1: In 25% of the presidential election years from 1948 to 1996, the successful candidate received 49.4 percent of the popular vote or less.

MED: In 50% of the presidential election years from 1948 to 1996, the successful candidate received 50.7 percent of the popular vote or less.

Q3: In 75% of the presidential election years from 1948 to 1996, the successful candidate received 58.1 percent of the popular vote or less.

MinX: In all of the presidential election years from 1948 to 1996, the smallest percentage of the popular vote received by a successful candidate was 43.2 percent.

MaxX: In all of the presidential election years from 1948 to 1996, the largest percentage of the popular vote received by a successful candidate was 61.1 percent.